Their "Senior Play"

"Cheaper by the Dozen"

The delightful story of the Gilbreth family came to life when the seniors of PHS presented it November 18 and 19, 1965. The play proved popular with the younger and older generations of Portland.

*Scenes From
the Senior

The Mouse That Roared

The play last year concerned the absent-minded Dr. Kokintz, a U.S. Atomic scientist who invented the J-bomb, the most devastating weapon conceivable. The bomb was captured by the expeditionary forces of Gloriana VII, Duchess of Grand Fenwick (a country 3 miles wide and 5 miles long). Her invading forces consisted of 13th century bowmen who attacked New York City with their bows and arrows during a national air raid drill. Everything turned out for the best, though, with an understanding between the two nations after a hilarious round of mixed-up events.
